Hey Jamie the food looks good, but do you have more information about the comfort food ingredients, because I am allergies for a few things and athorewise I get very sick. I also would like to know what the ingredients are to review my own experience with the product. Jamie it could be a clever marketing trick to make your comfort food bag green in place of red, because that will make it look healthier. And is the information in the ad a hunderd percent true?

Hello Jessy the mask looks amazing, but is the mask in the ad really good for your hair? Does it really mean that I don't need to chomp my hair anymore? Because I want to review your product, but I only want to review products when they are healthy form y hair. Mabey its an improment if you bring more up that this is healthier for your hair than what you used first.
